PREFACE

WENHAM CEMETERY
WENHAM ROAD, EAST CARVER, PLYMOUTH COUNTY, MASS.

This is the smallest town owned cemetery in Carver, located on the southerly side of Wenham Road about 1,500 feet from the Plymouth town line.

I have entered the information into two types of indexes:

The first is by sections listing all the information on each stone including epitaphs if readable.

The second index combines both sections with names listed in alphabetical order and with reference as to where that name can be found by section and row number and includes dates of birth and death and marital status if known.

A question mark following a name or date indicates the inscription was worn and hard to read and the information could be in error.

-?- or --?-- indicates a date or part of wording was impossible to read.

Veterans plaques are indicated in italics such as "GAR" (Grand Army of the Republic), "USV" (US Veteran), etc. A few veterans graves had a US flag but no flag holder.

I have divided the cemetery into two sections: Section "A" and Section "B" with plans for each.

The photograph on the following page taken by Russell Gardner, related to the Robbins' and historian of Native Americans, shows a head and foot stone marking the burial spot on the Robbins lot in Sect. "B" of a Native American "Ebenezer Quason Robin". Unfortunately the two stones were removed by someone. The other photo shows the same lot with the stones removed.
